GYS is one of the main players in the design and production of welding machines, car body repair equipment and battery maintenance systems.

Creativity, internal communication and the sharing of know-how are the main ingredients of GYS success. Combined with listening to and anticipating clients' needs, this allows GYS to offer ever more efficient and innovative products. In France, GYS is the only company to design, manufacture and market welding machines. Together with a strong focus on European and world markets this has enabled GYS to grow continuously in the past 10 years.

The Group, to consolidate its presence in the world, has completed in the past year a productive expansion of the 40,000 square meter historical plant with a new additional building of 5,000 square meter. At the same time it started the construction of the third factory, the second in France, with 12,500 square meter on a total land of 25,000 square meter In addition to the investments in France, the group carried out capital increases in the German, English and Italian branches to support the growth of individual branches in step with the development of the parent company.

The GYS Italia branch, founded in 2015 of wich Massimo Corò is the CEO, for its part has strengthened its organization by acquiring other vehicles equipped for demos and training support, making them available to customers, partners and distributors. It has invested and continues to invest in new professionals roles and new people who will operate inside and outside the company with the aim of increasing its presence on the market.
